CONFIDENCE RETURNING

Such was the Trend the Past Week in the Financial World

DECISION OF CORTELYOU

To Issue Only $40,000,000 of the $150,000,000 New Securities Was a Feature.

DISCLOSED UNUSUAL STRONG RESERVES

New York, December 9.—The events of the past week in the financial world have been such as usually mark the gradual return of confidence and the restoration of normal conditions in the banks. The decision of the secretary of the treasury to issue only about $40,000,000 of the $150,000,000 in new securities which he expressed a willingness to issue if conditions required, the disclosure of unusually strong reserves by country banks reporting to the controller of the currency, the decline in the currency premiums and the improvement in the New York bank statement, have all been features of the week which have tended towards stablity and reassurance. The action of the secretary of the treasury in limiting the issues of securities was a part of the original plan recommended to him to meet the situation by a resolute and adequate measure, but to carry the execution of the measure no father than circumstances required. The result of limiting the issue of the Panama two per cent. bonds to $25,000,000 and the one year treasury certificates to about $15,000,000, will be to considerably simplify the problem of treasury management and money market conditions during the spring.

It is anticipated by far-sighted bankers here that there will be a plethora of money soon instead of a dearth and that it will be necessary to reduce in some way the large volume of currency which has been brought into use during the crisis. The increase in money in circulation outside the treasury, as shown by the monthly statement of the treasury department for November, was $131,872,887. Of this amount the increase in gold in the country is computed at about $72,000,000, including domestic production as well as important from abroad. The other principal form of increase of $7,533, 521 was obtained by the disbursement of bank notes held in the treasury cash, and $46,237,730 was obtained by actual increase in the notes issued by the comptroller and outstanding. There have been fears in some quarters that if anything approximating $100,000,000 in new bank notes were issued upon the security of the new one year certificates, the resulting inflation would expel gold in large amounts after the credits established by the crop movement were exhausted.

State's Basket Ball Team.

Manager Harding of the Penn State basket ball team has arranged his schedule for the season. An effort is being made to secure the Cornell team for Thursday, Dec. 19. The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 11, Wyoming seminary, at State; 17, New York Law School at State; Feb. 3, Johnstown Athletic club, at Johnstown; 12, Franklin and Marshall, at Lancaster; 13 Delaware College, at Newark, Del.; 14, University of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia; 15, Swarthmore; 18, George Washington University, at State; 26, Fordham College, at New York; 27, Manhattan, at New York; 28, College of the City of New York, at New York; 29, Lehigh, at South Bethlenem; March 6 Delaware College, at State.

An Old Time Hunter.

Friday morning Jake Bathurst of Braddock, came in on the 9.05 train with 16 rabbits, 2 pheasant, and some venison. He was aided by a few of his cousins, in getting this lions share of the wild. The man appears to be an old hunter, and well trained. Even in this cold weather he sleeps in the woods sometimes besides the cheering blaze of a camp-fire. He does not seem to care much where he chooses his bed, sleeping in the Allegheny Mountains where many animals, such as the bear and wild cat, roam at liberty. He appears to be in splendid health.

AN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Dr. Locke had the Misfortune to Wreck his Machine.

Friday afternoon about 3 o clock, while speeding a little, Dr. Locke, a prominent physician of this town, ran into the gutter and partly over the pavement on the Howard Street side of Wm. P. Humes residence. It is probable that Dr. Locke wished to show his expert ability in handling an automobile, and while so doing got a little too close to the hitching post. The hub of the left front wheel of the machine touched the hitching post, turning the machine into the gutter and pavement, and barely missing a large tree. It was a close shave for the Doctor, but we are pleased to announce that he received no injury, The left part of the machine was wrecked as follows: the front wheel was smashed to pieces, the glass on the lamp was broken, the fender bent and the front axle broken. Dr. Locke went to his residence and called up the John P. Lyon establishment, telling them of the accident. Messrs. Thompson and Bartley took another automobile and after some necessary fixing up, towed the broken auto to the shop to be repaired. The machine was a Buick, and when it got wrecked quite a bit of excitement prevailed.

This was hard luck but it should be a lesson to our autoists to run with more care.

Eyre—Shoemaker Plant Closed Down Temporarily.

The Eyre Shoemaker plant, one of the best paying industries in or near Tyrone closed down temperorarily on Friday evening. Thomas A. Shoemaker of Bellefonte is one of the firm. The works had just got started nicely and they expected to employ one hundred more men in a few weeks. Mr. Eyre made the statement on Friday that the shutting down of his works was only for a short time and that he expected to have everything in good running order in a few weeks.

The Eyre Shoemaker plant is a large interesting concern and is worth any one's time to go through and see the wonderful work that is being turned out. The main shop or building is three hundred feet long and seventy five feet wide. During the past month they sent out fifteen camp cars, remodeled several engines and transformed a large pullman car into five pleasant offices. This car will be used on the different jobs and will be moved when necessary. In connection with the main building they have a thirty by thirty blacksmith shop and a thirty by thirty boiler house.

The work at Chicago Junction, Hayre de Grace, Md., Buffalo, N. Y., and Brockwayville, Pa., is still going on with forty-six hundred men on the pay roll.

Feared 47 Entombed.

Pittsburg, Dec. 3rd.—It is almost certain that the five American and forty-two foreign miners, who were entombed in the Naomi Mine of the United Coal Company, at Fayette City, thirty-five miles from here, by the explosion of blackdamp last night, have succumbed to the deadly afterdamp. This fate of the miners was pretty well established late today by the finding of the body of a mine pumper near the twenty-second entry of the mine, the man had died from suffocation. Thus far two known fatalities have been recorded, both having been caused by the poisonous gas fumes.

There is also a possibility that the explosion of Monday night occured so close to the men that they were killed by its force or the resultant fall of tons of rock and earth.

Since shortly after 8 o'clock Monday night a large force of rescures under the supervision of Deputy State Mine Inspector Henry Loutitt and a score of expert miners, has labored almost constanily in an effort to reach the imprisoned men. The work has been necessarily slow on account of the wreckage and afterdamp.

Pays $35,000 for a Shot.

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 6th.—William S. Wirsing has accepted $35,000 in satisfaction of his claim against James R. Smith for injuries caused by Smith shooting him. Wirsing eloped with Smith's daughter. Smith is now serving a five year term in the penitentiary for the shooting.

The jury awarded Wirsing $45,000 but the court ordered a new trial unless Wirsing would accept $35,000 to which he agreed. Smith's property is valued at about $200,000

NEW YORK WAS WILD

After Midnight, Tight Sunday Was the Cause

SALOONS KEPT OPEN

All Big Theatres Shut, But Open Bowling Alleys Were all the More Steadily Patronized.

SALOONS TOOK THE PLACE OF SHOWS

New York, Dec. 10.—One minute after midnight is an unusual time for a city to be "open up," but conditions were peculiar here Monday. After twenty-four hours under the tightest lid they have had any experience with in a generation, New Yorkers were so tired of repression that they simply couldn't wait another instant for relaxation. Of course the big theatres stayed shut, but lots of the smaller vaudeville shows opened their doors the very first second they were satisfied it was really Monday. So did the dance halls and many of the penny arcades and nickelodeons.

They did a rushing business, too, for an hour or so before people began to grow tired and drift home. It was the liveliest midnight New York has seen in a long time. The populace seemed to be sitting up especially to watch "Blue Sunday" out and to pray that there may not be another like it. There were to be a few prosecutions of small amusement managers who defied the law. Most of these claim to be protected by injunctions however, and few convictions are looked for. In general the law was strictly observed.

In accordance with Justice O'Gorman's decision of last week, the doors of 500 concert halls and theatres were closed Sunday; but the gackrooms of 5,000 saloons and all the billiard and pool parlors, together with bowling alleys, were wide open. Every one of these did the largest business for any Sunday in their history, and never before were so many intoxicated men seen in the streets. Dancing academies and roller skating rinks were closed tight, while restaurants and beer gardens operating under restaurant licenses were permitted to run without hindrance and with musical accompainment. For the first time in December in fifty years no ball was held on Sunday night in Tammany Hall.

Thirty Years in Penitentiary.

Williamsport, Dec. 6th.—At the County Court Thursday George Nelson received the following sentence for the murder of Patrolman Maloney.

"The sentence of the Court is, in No. 1 June Sessions, 1907, that you, George Nelson, pay a fine of one dollar to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the use of the County of Lycoming, and the costs of prosecution; and moreover undergo an imprisonment in the State penitentiary for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, in separate and solitary confinement at labor, for the period of twenty years and stand committed until the sentence of the Court is complied with.

"In No. 22 June Sessions, 1907, on the charge of burglary, the sentence of the Court is that you, George Nelson, pay a fine of one dollar to the Commonwealth for the use of the County of Lycoming, and the costs of the prosecution, and moreover that you undergo an imprisonment in the State penitentiary for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, by separate and solitary confinement at labor for a period of ten years to begin at the expiration of sentence in No. 1 June Sessions, 1907, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, and stand committed until the sentence of the Court is complied with."

Mrs. Alice Burns.

Wednesday morning at one o'clock the Angel of Death entered the home of George Burns of near Penna. Furnace taking from him his beloved wife, Alice. Mrs. Burns was a faithful member of the United Brethren church, and a worthy woman who will be missed in her community. Left to survive her are her husband and ten children. The funeral services will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made at Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Basket Ball.

Our Y. M. C. A. boys went to Tyrone Friday evening to play the "Big Five" of that city, and won a glorious victory, every thing seemed to be in bad shape for their opponents who were much heavier.

At the first part of the game the Bellefonte boys were off their feet not being used to the National Rules but in less than two minutes of play the Bellefonte boys had 2 points to their credit.

Tyrone has a very fast team, they have already played some of the big league teams this season. It was quite a surprise to the Tyrone supporters to see the Bellefonte boys carry away the laurels from their heavier opponents. The game was witnessed by nearly three hundred people. If the Bellefonte boys had the support that the Tyrone boys had they would have played faster ball than they are playing now.

At the end of the first half the score stood 11-10 in favor of Tyrone and in the second half with only seven minutes to play the score stood 20 20. Then the Bellefonte boys worked up to the basket and pushed the ball over the rim of the basket three times while the Tyrone boys could only manage to get one, this making the score 26-22 in favor of Bellefonte.

The line up:

Tyrone	position	Bellefonte
Crawford	forward	Lingle
Dickson	"	Gordon
Hunter (capt)	centre	Walker (capt)
Holombory	guard	Lane
Trego	"	Shields
		Smith sub.

Referee, Fetterhoof.

Next Friday night Y. M. C. A. will play Juniata in the Y. M. C. A. Gyms. Come around and see the game, they are playing great ball.

Mr. Hubbard, local Y. M. C. A. physical director and his splendid five deserve great credit for winning this game. Tyrone called our boys farmers, but it looks as if this state of affairs has been changed, and our Tyrone team has been shown the mighty power of our Bellefonte boys.

Mr. Hubbard is very much of the opinion and he well deserves to be. Keep it up fellows for we're all proud of you.

Bridge Collapsed.

Jesse Dunlop and his brother Newt have been helping to put a bridge across the Susquehanna River, at Mifflinburg This bridge was being built by the York Bridge Company, and quite a number of men were being used to put it up. The recent rains caused the river to rise considerably, and it washed the false work foundations away causing the collapse of the bridge on Tuesday. At the time of the accident some of the men were working on the bridge. Of these men Newt Dunlop was one, and, lucky for Jesse, he was over town. Seven men were killed and Newt had two fingers smashed. He called up his father on the telephone and told him about it, telling him not to be alarmed as his fingers were not badly hurt. Newt used to be employed at Olewine's Hardware store.

The dead are L. A. Fahs, Selinsgrove; Charles Creitzer, Selinsgrove; Adam Nuss, Selinsgrove; Adam Tritt, Beaver Valley; Irvin Updegraff, Georgetown; Millard Bowman, Mifflinville, and George B. Faux, address unknown.

The injured: William Boyer, New York, back probably broken; Ray Sherwood, Mesoppin, spine injured and skull puncturek; Percival Reighterbach, McKees Half Falls, leg broken; Howard Reighterbach, McKees Half Falls, leg fractured; William Moyer, Selinsgrove, leg broken; Luther E. Eckerd, Liverpool, shoulder dislocated; Cecil Sharer, Newport, shoulder dislocated; Newton Dunlop, Bellefonte, general contusion; Harry C. Goodling, Hopper, right elbow broken; John Seesholtz, Selinsgrove, general contusion; John Fisher, Selinsgrove, arm broken; William Weiking, Snyder county, general contusions and cuts; Jacob Johnson, Bloomsburg, fractured leg.

Mrs. Susan Walizer.

Mrs. Susan Walizer, widow of Henry Walizer, who for many years lived at Mackeyville where she reared a large family, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Hannah Hartman, at Bloomsburg Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Walizer was past 80 years of age and her death was due to the wearing out of her physical system. Her six sons, Edward, Joseph, Harvey, Charles, Beattie and Robert, and two daughters, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Hartman, are scattered all over the states. Robert, of Renovo, was at Lock Haven Monday making arrangements for the funeral and burial, which was held at Mackeyville some time Tuesday.

TO PICK DELEGATES

Chairman Meek and Andrews Hold Conference at Washington.

TERMS OF AGREEMENT.

And in Congressional Districts Where There are More Than one County Papers Must be Filed in Each

CANDIDATES FILE NOMINATION PAPERS

Washington, Dec. 11th.—The method of choosing delegates to the national conventions in the congressional districts of Pennsylvania was on Tuesday agreed upon by W. B. Andrews and P. Gray Meek, chairman, respectively of the Republican and Democratic state committees. The new primary law of the state does not cover all the contingencies that had to be considered in connection with the call for the national convention, and, therefore, an agreement between the chairmen was necessary.

The terms of the agreement will be sent to all county chairmen, so that the election of delegates under the primary law may be made to conform to the conditions imposed in the call of the national committee. Chairman Andrews made this explanatory statement.

"In congressional districts that are composed of more than one county, candidates for national delegates must file nomination papers signed by at least ten electors, with the county commissioners of each county in the district.

If there should be five counties in the district, the candidates must file papers with the county commissioners of each of the five counties, and the papers must contain the names of at least ten voters of the county in which they are filed. As we have no congressional committees, it has been arranged that the result of the elections in each county is to be certified by the county commissioners to the secretary of the commonwealth, and he is to certify the result to the state chairman.

In turn the state chairman will certify to the national committee the names of the candidates who have been elected in the various districts. In this manner we comply with the state law, and at the same time we do it in accordance with provisions of the call issued by the Republican national committee."

By the agreement made Tuesday, the Democrats will follow the procedure described by Andrews in the selection of their delegates to their national convention.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Milton has cancelled the return game of basket ball that was to have been played in that town December 20th. Guess the boys up the river got cold feet after their defeat here last month.

Our boys are in fine condition for the basket ball game that will be played here with Juniata this week, Friday. We expect that this game will make three successive victories for Bellefonte. Encourage the fellows by your presence.

The committee in charge of "At The Ferry" will refund ticket money to any one who sits through the program next Tuesday evening with a straight face. If your heart is too weak to stand a good laugh give your ticket to some one else. Uncle Rube, Aunt Maria, Mrs. Troublesome, The English Dude and the four dozen other characters, will do their best to help you shake off dull care. The chart for reserved seats opens at P. D. Sheffer's store Thursday.

One of Blanchard's Citizens Dies.

Samuel Kunes died at his home at Blanchard last Friday, aged about 75 years. He is survived by his wife, one son, Frank, of Beech Creek borough, three daughters, Mrs. Wilson Clark, of Blanchard, Mrs. Mark Champion, of Williamsport, and Miss Blanche, at home; also by two brothers, D. B. and J. I. Kunes, of Blanchard.

The deceased was one of the staunch citizens of Blanchard, where he spent his long life. He was identified with every progressive movement in that section and left a name for good citizenship. He was prosperous in his day and left a large estate. His funeral was held Monday.

A Break Down.

The train running from Tyrone to Lock Haven broke down at Snow Shoe Intersection Thursday morning. The smoke stack was blown off, so that the train could not make its regular morning run. A special engine came from Tyrone and took the remainder of the train to Lock Haven. The accident made the train almost two hours late.

KNOX FOR PRESIDENT

His Boom Launched By Pennsylvania Congressional Delegation.

GREETED BY APPLAUSE

Senator Declares His Candidacy for Presidential Nomination—Must Rest Upon His Public Record and the Wishes of his Party

NOTABLE BANQUET AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Dec. 6.—The boom of Senator Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, for the presidency was formally launched at a notable banquet in this city when the Pennsylvania, Republican congressional delegation placed itself squarely on record in favor of the Pennsylvania senator as President Roosevelt's successor. The occasion was a dinner given by former Representative Joseph C. Sibley, of Pennsylvania, to the Pennsylvania delegation in congress. Mr. Knox's candidacy was hailed most enthusiastically by his colleagues in congress.

Representative Burke, of Pittsburg was the first speaker, and his remarks, evoked frequent applause. Mr. Burke reviewed Senator Knox's public career, and pointed out how intimately he was identified with and responsible for the success of many of the great policies that have aided in making the administration of President Roosevelt notable. He also read extracts from letters written by the president warmly commending Mr. Knox for the part he played in the enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

At the conclusion of Mr. Burke's speech, Representative John Dalzell, of the Pittsburg district, made a motion that it be adopted as the sense of the entire delegation, which was carried with cheers.

Governor Stuart and Lieutenant Governor Murphy followed with enthusiastic indorsements of Senator Knox, declaring that the time had come for the banner Republican state of the Union to demand proper recognition of Senator Knox for the presidency.

When Senator Knox rose to answer the warmth of his reception attested the earnestness of Pennsylvanians in their intention to urge his nomination and what he said impressed every listener. Mr. Knox's declaration that the suggestion of his candidacy must rest upon his public record and the wishes of the Republicans of Pennsylvania was heartily applauded.

Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, was toastmaster, and 24 of the 25 Republican members of the delegation were present. Among the other guests were Governor Edwin S. Stuart, Lieutenant Governor Robert S. Murphy, Senators Knox and Penrose, John G. A. Leishman, American ambassador to Turkey, Assistant Attorney General Purdy, former Assistant Attorney General James M. Beck, and R. P. Habgood, president of the Pennsylvania State League of Republican clubs Toastmaster Moore briefly told of Pennsylvania's claims upon the coming presidential nomination and of the man put forward as her candidate.

MRS. GOOLD WAS CHIEF INSTIGATOR

Monte Carlo, December 5.—After a speedy trial before the Superior Court of Monaco, Vere St. Leger Goold and his wife, Marie, were convicted Wednesday of the murder of Emma Levin here last summer. The court found that Mrs. Goold was the chief instigator of the crime, and sentenced her to death by the guillotine, and that Goold was less responsible because under the influence of liquor at the time the murder was committed, and sentenced him to imprisonment for life.

The trial of the Goolds consumed less than three days. It attracted attention all over the world because of the enormity of the crime, the manner in which it was committed and the dramatic arrest of the principals while seeking to escape with a trunk containing portions of the body in their possessions. Goold and his wife left Monte Carlo early last August, going to Marseilles. A hotel porter in that city noticed blood oozing from a trunk which the two had brought with them and when they drove off with the trunk he notified the police and their arrest followed.

Statements as to the facts in the case were at great variance, Goold himself confessed that he committed the murder and that his wife had nothing to do with it. The police did not put much faith in his story and as the case was presented to the court his wife was shown to be the real instigator.

The evidence went to show that Emma Levin, who was possessed of considerable jewelry and some money, had been invited to visit the Goolds, who were in needy circumstances. There she was killed and later a quantity of her jewelry was found in the possession of Goold and his wife. Her body was dismembered and packed in a trunk and valise, which the murderers were trying to dispose of when the crime was discovered.

The Other Side.

To The Editor of the "News."

Dear Sir:

In answer to a write up in the "Watchman" Friday headed "a dramatic theatrical climax" kindly find space in the next issue of your worthy paper.

The "Watchman" seems to have a wrong idea of the trouble between Mr. P. E. Carrigan Mgr. of "Saved from the Slums" Co., and Miss Mabelle Charles, former member of this Co., in the first place Mr. Carrigan discharged ticket-tacker, Ben Bernard for scheming to get control of the show and trying to ruin the character of other members of the Co. Miss Charles upon learning of her "sweethearts" (as she called him) discharge, decided to quit immediately. Mr. Carrigan reminded her that she was compelled to give a two weeks notice, this she refused to do. Her trunk was then seized but later released. She and Carrigan then met in Justice Musser's office where the argument took place. Carrigan did not call Miss Charles any name as the "Watchman" stated, but told her everyone in the company knew what she was. She then proved herself to be a lady? by slapping his face. He then swore a warrent out for her arrest. She was then taken to the county jail but later released under $500 bail to appear at the February term of court, when Mr. Carrigan will be sure to be on hand to settle matters.

The "Watchman" also states that "the story can be told in one word—jealousy." Now as acting manager I will positively state that this is a rank lie, as according to Miss Charles' own story, she is the wife of Mr. C. Anderson formerly with the Herald Square Stock Co. and anybody knowing Mr. Carrigan will verify my statement in saying, Mr. Carrigan is not in the habit of loving some one elses wife.

I think the "Watchman" is sadly in need of eye glasses if they care to publish any more "dramrtic theatrical climax."

Very Truly Yours,
Jack Carrigan.

The Great Damrosch Orchestra.

Negotiations have been completed whereby Mr. Walter Damrosch and the New York Symphony Orchestra have been secured for an appearance in the Mishler Theatre Altoona Monday evening Dec. 30th. The famous organization of 80 eminent soloists and its distinguished leader are to be brought to Altoona, and it is safe to say that the engagement will rank among the most important that the season will offer.

No orchestra leader in America is better known than Walter Damrosch, and none has done more to spread the gospel of music in this country. For over twenty years Mr. Damrosch has labored among the same consistent line, and step by step he has developed the New York Symphony to a place among the very best orchestras that the world can boast. The orchestra is now aided by a substantial subsidy which has been of tremendous help in bringing it to its present excellence.

As an interpreter of Wagner, Mr. Damrosch occupies a position altogether unique in America, though he has by no means confined himself exclusively to the works of the great German master, as the best of the world's symphonic literature is embraced in his repertory. To music-lovers who appreciate what an inspiring affair a concert by a great symphonic orchestra can be, there is no need of emphasizing the importance of the Damrosch engagement, and the announcement is bound to occasion general satisfaction. Only a few cities in the United States will be given an opportunity to hear the New York Symphony on the present tour, so the fact that Altoona is included is ground for special congratulation.

People away from Altoona may obtain reserved seats through ordering same by mail, telegraph, telephone or special messenger Visitors to Altoona will be given special attention and opportunity of obtaining best reservations

How to Become Rich.

In order to become rich it is necessary merely to follow the perfectly simple procedure of any king of finance. Thus:

Borrow all the money you can upon the property you already own.

With the money buy more property.

Combine the two properties, float a loan, and with the money but a third property.

Merge the three properties, use the merger as security for a loan, and with the money buy another large property.

Consolidate this with the others, select a board of directors, and authorize your self to float twice as much stock as there is.

Sell this stock, and with the money buy five or six more properties.

Organize a holding company which will carry the stocks of all the properties.

You are now so wealthy and influential that you do not need to make any more loans.

Increase the stock of your properties and sell bonds upon them.

Authorize yourself to buy everything in sight with this money.

Now you will have control of everything; also you will have the say so in any number of subsidiary companies and a controlling voice in eight or nine insurance companies and national banks.

After this there doesn't seem to be much for you to do except to get the dyspepsia, get bald and prattle gently about the excellence of moral proverbs. —Life.

—Nature always warns you if your bowels are all clogged or inflamed—heed this. Take Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea. Give it a trial. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. C. M. Parrish.

How its Done.

Mrs. Post—But how do you avoid making visits that you don't want to pay?

Mrs. Parker—Well, I always send word that I'm coming.

Mrs. Post—Yes?

Mrs. Barker—And then they always write back that they won't be at home. —Judge.

Three Killed, Thirty Hurt.

Baltimore, Md., Dec 5.—Three persons were killed and thirty injured as the out come on a rear end collision at a dangerous curve on the Baltimore and Ohio tracks at Hanover Thursday morning between the Washington and Baltimore express and a local accommodation train.

All the dead are colored people and the majority of the injured are school children and girls enroute to Baltimore on the accommodation train, The starting hour of the express train is behind that of the accommodation and the express overtook the accommodation and telescoped the two rear cars. Letting the two trains on the same block caused the wreck.

This was the cause of a wreck less than a year ago at Terra Cotta, in which 49 persons lost their lives.

The dead were removed to the Baltimore morgue and the injured to several different hospitals. It is impossible to obtain the names and addresses of the injured. It is known that 30 men, women, boys and girls are at various hospitals. Two girls are expected to die.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them; and in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements, caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

The Editor's Fix.

"I can't keep visitors from coming up," said the office boy, dejectedly. "When I say you're out they don't believe me. They say they must see you."

"Well," said the editor, "Just tell them "That's what they all say." I don't care if you cheek them, but I must have quietness."

That afternoon there called at the office a lady with hard features and an acid expression. She wanted to see the editor, and the boy assured her that it was impossible.

"But I must see him!" she protested "I'm his wife!"

"That's what they all say," replied the boy.

That is why the boy found himself on the floor, with the lady sitting on his neck smacking his head with a ruler, and that is why there is a new boy wanted there—Answers.

Chloroforms her Fat Hog

Somebody stole Mrs. Rebecca Thomas' 250 pound hog from the rear of her home, at 697 Ferry avenue, Camden, Tuesday night. A sponge left behind showed that chloroform had been used to keep the hog from squealing.

Push cart tracks in the snow indicated how the hog was carried away. At one point he must have revived sufficiently to make a break for freedom, as the tracks indicated he was chased by the thief.

How the hog was recaptured and what became of him is one of the mysteries which the Camden police are trying to solve.

500 MINERS ENTOMBED

Feared That None of Them Have Escaped Death

REPORT HEARD AFAR.

Explosions in Two Coal Mines in West Virginia Have Entombed Five Hundred Miners.

EARTH SEEMED TO BE RENT.

Pittsburg, Dec. 7th.—A terrific and disastrous explosion occurred today in mines Nos. 6 and 8 of the Consolidation Coal Company, of Monongah, W. Va.

A long distance telephone message to the Associated Press says that the bodies of three miners have been recovered near the mouth of mine No. 6. They were foreingners. Superintendent Lee Malone of the mines says there are at least five hundred men entombed.

The mine is located on the West Fork River. How the explosion occurred simultaneously in both mines cannot be explained at this time.

All is confusion at the scene of the disaster and definite information is meagre.

The explosion was heard for a distance of eight miles.

It is believed that a majority of the entombed men were killed.

Immediately after receipt of the news, physicians and special cars were hastily hurried to the scene from Fairmount. The mine is too full of gas and smoke yet for rescuers to be able to go in.

It is said the explosion started in No. 6, and spread to No. 8 mine, the two being connected.

The gravest fears are felt for the safety of the great number of men in the workings. The very earth seemed to be rent at the moment o the shock. Some idea may be gained from the fact that props from the mine were not only blown out of the entry but were hurled by the force of it clear across the west fork of the Monongahela river. Wires are down and this is the reason details of the explosion are not obtainable.

The town of Monongah has a population of about 6,000 and while for the most part the miners are of foreign birth, there are still many American workmen. Possibly the largest steel tipple in the State is located at Monongah. The mines are both shaft and slope mines being worked by the rope and haulage system. They lie on both sides of the West Fork river, and are connected by a steel pier bridge owned and operated by the coal company. Until about ten years ago only Americans were employed. At that time the miners of Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois and Ohio were on strike.

The coal company is one of the largest companies of the kind in the country and is capitalized at about $20,000,000.

It is feared that the accident will turn out to be the worst in the history of mining in this country.

Superintendent Malone telephoned that five hundred men were in the mine at the time and the miners do not think any could escape alive from the force of the explosion,

Of Course.

Early in the morning session, when the pupils were feeling bright and happy, the teacher thought it a good plan to give them sentences to correct, both as to grammar and sense. She accordingly wrote on the blackboard:

"The hen has four legs. He done it."

Thoughtful little Ignatius, at the foot of the class, pondered deeply, and at the end of fifteen minutes' time, allowed for correction, he wrote:

"He didn't done it. God done it.

An English Author Wrote:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves, -November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly American's Greatest Medicine for American's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! PINEAPPLES.

A Time When They Sold For $10 Each In San Francisco.

In 1851 pineapples were rare in San Francisco. One day in that year one of the passengers who had crossed the isthmus of Darien before leaving Panama purchased from one of the natives of that place a dozen pineapples for a quarter of a dollar, and when he landed in San Francisco he had six left. He was carrying these from the landing place at the foot of Vallejo street, where there were boat steps at the end of a twenty foot wharf, which new arrivals approached by Whitehall boats from the steamers that in those days anchored in the stream 300 yards from shore. The man was accosted suddenly by a stranger who asked him what he wanted "for that lot of pineapples."

"They are not for sale."

"But I want them," said the Californian.

"I'll sell you three," said the new arrival, who on the voyage had heard that San Francisco people were liberal buyers, and he added, "but they'll cost you $5 each."

"Take 'em," was the curt reply, and the fruit changed owners, the resident passing over a Spanish coin known then as a gold "ounce," worth $16 in trade.

Before the new purchaser had moved across Battery street, where the transaction had taken place, he was accosted by an acquaintance, who asked him to let him have the fruit. A dicker followed for two of them, the acquaintance paying $10 apiece for them. Later in the day the first purchaser was boasting of the rapid manner by which he had cleared $5 and still had a fine pineapple for supper.—San Francisco Call.

A Real "Hoss" Race.

If you would see a horse strapped, booted, braced and geared to the limit you must seek such a track as you see at the old time country fair. Here comes an awkward flea bitten gray which never went under 2:50 in his life. He is hobbled and checked and goggled and hitched up sidewise, lengthwise and crosswise until there is more harness than horse. You wonder how his driver ever got him into this rigging and how he will get him out again without cutting him free with a jackknife. A farmer with a gray beard and twinkling eye observes to his neighbor:

"Last time John Martin had that plug out on the road I told him he had the old cripple overloaded with fust aids to the injured. Them straps that was cal'lated to hoist up his knees must ha' pulled too tight, and the critter was yanked clean off the ground. What John was gettin' ready for was a race for flyin' machines, not a hoss trot."—David Lansing in Outing Magazine.

Dina Moe and Dina Mite.

Mr. Cracker, a young colored gentleman of our city, had just obtained employment in one of our department stores as an experienced porter, but after a short time proved to be unfit for the position. Being fired, he thereby gained the nickname of Fire Cracker. Fire Cracker was deeply in love with a young woman of his own race by the name of Miss Moe and after a short acquaintance found that her surname was Dina. He went to Dina Moe and said:

"Dina Moe, does you lub me?"

She quickly replied, "No."

Not being disheartened and at the same time remembering the motto he learned at school, "If at first you don't succeed try, try again," he went to Dina Moe again and said:

"Dina Moe, could you learn to lub me?"

Dina this time rolled the white of her eyes and, looking Fire Cracker in the face, answered:

"Dina—Mite!"—Judge's Library.

Snapdragon Seed Pods.

The antirrhinum, or snapdragon, is one of the old fashioned garden flowers known by every one. Although it is a visitor from southern Europe, it has been here so long that it has become naturalized. When we say "lion's mouth," "frog's mouth," "calf's mouth," "rabbit's mouth," we mean snapdragon, all these names being suggested by its grotesque masklike corolla. But there is something still more grotesque if we will wait till the seed time and gather the dried, brown skeleton of the seed pod. Look at them sideways, under a bright lamplight if possible, and you will find they have quite a resemblance to a rhinoceros. Remove the calyx and the little horns on the nose and look at them from the front, and they have a still more striking resemblance to human skulls, and by turning them about you get all sorts of queer expressions on the grinning mouth.—St. Nicholas.

Hurry.

To our own age belongs the credit of having raised hurry from the degraded position of a disease to that of a commercial process. Formerly hurry simply brought people to an early grave, with nothing to show for it, whereas now it is become the means of transforming peace of mind, which is a solecism, to say the best of it, into ready money. Hurry has grown to be a great fact in life. Even the fashions take account of it until women are found doing up their hair in such a way that they may go the speed limit without fear of its coming down. And the best of hurry is that it is its own sufficient justification. Nobody expects hurry to have any particular reason behind it any more.—R. B. in New York Life.

THE THERMOMETER.

It Was Invented by a Poor Man Who Had Failed as a Merchant.

There is one little instrument in which the interest of all classes of people in this country never diminishes through all the changing seasons of the year, from the first day of January to the last day of December. It regulates the business pulse of the nation and is the shrine to which men of all occupations turn. And this little instrument is the thermometer, which bears the name of Fahrenheit.

Before the seventeenth century men could only judge of the amount of heat prevailing at any place by their personal sensations and could only speak of the weather in a very indefinite way as hot or very hot, cold or very cold. In that century several attempts were made by scientific experimenters by means of tubes containing oil, spirits of wine and other substances to establish a satisfactory means of measuring heat, but none of them proved successful. Even Sir Isaac Newton, who applied his great mind to this work, and also the noted astronomer, Halley, failed in their attempts to produce a heat measure.

It was reserved to Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit, an obscure and poor man, a native of Dantzig, to give to the world the instrument which has proved to be so serviceable to mankind. He had failed in business as a merchant and, having a taste for mechanics and chemistry, began a series of experiments for the production of thermometers. At first he made these instruments with alcohol, but soon became convinced that the semisolid mercury was a more suitable article to use in the glass tube.

Fahrenheit had removed from Dantzig to Amsterdam, and there about the year 1720 he made the mercury thermometer which has ever since been fashioned much like the original.

The basis of his plan was to mark on the tube the two points respectively at which water is congealed and boiled and to graduate the space between. He began with an arbitrary marking, beginning with 32 degrees, because he found that the mercury descended 32 degrees more before coming to what he thought the extreme cold resulting from a mixture of ice, water and sal ammoniac. In 1724 he published a distinct treatise on the subject of his experiments and the conclusions that had resulted therefrom.

Celsius of Stockholm soon after suggested the more rational graduation of a hundred degrees between freezing and boiling point. This was the centigrade thermometer. Reaumur proposed another graduation which has been accepted by the French, but by far the largest part of the civilized world Fahrenheit's scale has been accepted and used, with 32 degrees as freezing, 55 degrees as temperate, 96 degrees as blood heat and 212 degrees as boiling point.

It is true that the zero of Fahrenheit's scale is a solecism since it does not mark the extreme to which heat can be abstracted. This little blemish, however, does not seem to have been of any practical consequence.

Arctic explorers have persisted in describing temperatures below the zero of Fahrenheit, and scientists have produced artificially temperatures far below any ever dreamed of by the thermometer maker of Amsterdam. There is doubt as to the year of the death of Fahrenheit, but it is generally placed in 1740.—Los Angeles Times.

Sun Power.

There is one source to which all minds revert when this question is mentioned, a source most promising and yet one which has so far eluded the investigator. The sun on a clear day delivers upon each square yard of the earth's surface the equivalent of approximately two horsepower of mechanical energy working continuously. If even a fraction of this power could be transformed into mechanical or electrical energy and stored it would do the world's work. Here is power delivered at our very doors without cost. How to store the energy so generously furnished and keep it on tap for future use is the problem. That the next half century will see some solution thereof, either chemical or otherwise, seems likely.—H. S. Pritchett in Atlantic.

Pies and Pie Crust.

A good way to prevent the juice from running out of fruit pie is to insert a funnel shaped piece of paper in the top crust. This will allow the steam to escape while the pie is baking. Many people sprinkle the top of a juicy pie with flour before putting on the top crust. Another good suggestion is to use minute tapioca instead of flour for the purpose.

Lady Curzon's Discovery.

The late Lady Curzon is said to have told some American friends that very early in her married life she discovered that Lord Curzon liked to be "dressed for." So she resolved that he should never come to dinner without finding her in a garb a little different from what other people had seen in. "It is not much trouble," she "and it pleases him."

THE WOMAN WHO COUGHED.

Catarrh had nearly ruined me. It had eaten away the partition in my nose; produced Asthma, Bronchitis, Rheumatism; ruined my stomach; in fact, gone all through my system. Then Grip finished me. I was a wreck; took cold at nothing; and coughed day and night. The doctors dosed me with opium and quinine. No good. Cough "cures"? Bah! Then Brazilian Balm renovated me. Killed every germ. Took 10 $1.00 bottles. Now I'm like a girl of 18.

STEEL PLANT PERILS.

Recklessness a Psychological Factor That Must Be Considered.

Recklessness is certainly a psychological characteristic of men in steel plants. All tradition teaches them to be reckless. The very example of their superiors teaches them to be reckless. The assistant superintendent of the plant that the Illinois Steel company maintains at Joliet stepped on an unprotected gear and lost his leg just after he had warned his men not to be guilty of any such culpable negligence of their own safety. I am willing to admit the existence of culpable negligence altogether apart from the negligence of the company. And not only that, but I am also willing to give a specific illustration.

I was standing one day on the platform of a blast furnace. All at once, unexpectedly, I heard the four whistles that indicate danger. There was a "hang" in the furnace. The whirling, eddying mass of ore, coke and limestone in the high interior of that furnace had got caught somewhere, somehow, and was refusing to come down. When it did come down there would be a crash and perhaps an explosion.

I ran and got behind a brick pillar. On coming into the plant that morning I had signed a piece of paper, just the same kind of a piece of paper that every visitor signs, saying that I would not hold the Illinois Steel company responsible for anything that might happen to me. I reflected that nobody would profit by my demise. But observe what the other men around that blast furnace did!

I could see them as I peered out from behind my brick pillar. Those of them who were already in front of the furnace looked up at it with an expression of profound curiosity on their faces. Two other men who had been standing at the back of the furnace ran all the way round it and came out in front. There they all stood hurling their mute interrogatories at the crafty, reticent volcano that might nevertheless the next moment hurl forth an indignant answer at their heads!—Everybody's Magazine.

One Thousand Men, $1,000.

If 1,000 men were to come in here and each one eat a dollar's worth, I would have just $1,000," said the manager of one of those restaurants where each person helps himself. "On the other hand, if I should feed 1,000 women and allow them to pick out their own checks I might possibly have $3500, but I doubt it. Every woman is a natural born cheat. It seems to be a sixth sense in her makeup to try to get ahead of the person who provides her meals."

The woman to whom these horrifying revelations had been made walked away trying to evolve some plan for emancipating her sex from the web of dishonest propensities in which they had become enmeshed. Outside the restaurant she met a man friend.

"I've just been down there for luncheon," he said. "Glorious place; cheap too. If a fellow knows his business it is dead easy to get a fifty cent meal for a quarter. They never watch the men, but I tell you they keep a close eye on you women."

The woman with an ambition to reform her sex looked back into the restaurant.

"One thousand men, $1,000," she said, and smiled wickedly.—New York Times.

Desiring and Attaining.

Between desire and attaining, all human life flows on throughout. The wish is, in its nature, pain; the attainment soon begets satiety, the end was only apparent; possession takes away the charm; the wish, the need, presents itself under a new form when it does not; then follow desolateness, emptiness, ennui—against which the conflict is just as painful as against want. That wish and satisfaction should follow each other neither too quickly nor too slowly, reduces to the smallest amount the suffering which both occasion, and constitutes the happiest life.—Arthur Schopenhauer.

KEATS ON MARRIAGE.

Barrier Against Matrimony In Which the Poet Rejoiced.

Notwithstanding your happiness and your recommendation, I hope I shall never marry. Though the most beautiful creature were waiting for me at the end of a journey or a walk, though the carpet were of silk, the curtains of the morning clouds, the chairs and sofa stuffed with cygnets' down, the food manna, the wine beyond claret, the window opening on Winander mere, I should not feel, or, rather, my happiness would not be so fine, as my solitude is sublime. Then, instead of what I have described, there is a sublimity to welcome me home. The roaring of the wind is my wife, and the stars through the window pane are my children. The mighty abstract idea I have of beauty in all things stifles the more divided and minute domestic happiness—an amiable wife and sweet children I contemplate as a part of that beauty, but I must have a thousand of those beautiful particles to fill up my heart.

I feel more and more every day as my imagination strengthens that I do not live in this world alone, but in a thousand worlds. No sooner am I alone than shapes of epic greatness are stationed around me and serve my spirit the office which is equivalent to a king's bodyguard—then "tragedy with sceptered pall comes sweeping by." According to my state of mind I am with Achilles shouting in the trenches or with Theocritus in the vales of Sicily, or I throw my whole being into Troilus, and, repeating those lines, "I wander like a lost soul upon the Stygian banks, staying for waftage," I melt into the air with a voluptuousness so delicate that I am content to be alone. These things, combined with the opinion I have of the generality of women, who appear to me as children to whom I would rather give a sugar plum than my time, form a barrier against matrimony which I rejoice in. —"Poems of John Keats," by Walter Raleigh.

Troubles of an Amateur.

"I thought you had gone to raising bees," said the man from the city. "I don't see any sign of them around here."

"I had half a dozen colonies of the finest bees I could get," answered the suburbanite, "and a whole library of literature on bee raising, but they swarmed one day, and while I was looking through my books to find out what was the proper thing to do when bees swarmed the blamed things flew away, and I've never seen 'em since." —Chicago Tribune.

In Nameless Graves.

Not far from Hamburg, on the island of Westerland, is a small graveyard to which pathetic interest attaches. Here the bodies of those washed up by the sea—bodies unrecognized and unclaimed—are buried. The cemetery was dedicated to this use in 1855, and from then up to now over sixty nameless ones have found their rest. In 1888 a stone was raised bearing the dedication "The Home of the Homeless," and each little mound is further marked by a simple black cross.

Like the Parrot.

"Thumper occasionally says things that are wonderfully apropos," said one statesman.

"Yes," answered the other; "he's like our parrot at home. It doesn't know much, but what it does know it keeps repeating until some circumstance arises that makes the remark seem marvelously apt."

A good way to get on in the world is to make people think you are doing it.—New York Press.

The Triumph of Titus.

The total number of those who perished in the siege and capture of Jerusalem is estimated by Josephus at 1,100,000 persons; 97,000 were taken captive by the Romans. Of these 700 of the finest and strongest were selected to grace the triumphal procession of Titus. The old and the weak, who could not be used, the Romans had butchered in cold blood. Those over seventeen years of age were part of them sent into the Egyptian mines, part of them forced to appear in battle with wild beasts and be torn to pieces by them or to fight as gladiators with one another to delight the eyes of the heathen populace. In Caesarea Philippi alone, at the celebration of the birthday of Domitian, more than 2,500 Jews shed their blood in the arena. The males under seventeen years of age and the women were sold directly into slavery. Titus, with all his prisoners and all his booty, marched to Rome, where he had a brilliant triumph in the year 71 A. D. The sacred vessels of the temple were carried before the "imperator," and Simon and John, for the first time shoulder to shoulder, were obliged to march before the chariot of the victor with the 700 chosen captives. Simon, being the real leader, was first scourged and then throttled at the stake, in accordance with Roman custom. John finished his career in prison.

A Change in Temperature.

"I hear the audience last night was rather cold?" said Hi Tragedy.

"They were at first," replied Lowe Comedy, "but when they remembered that they had paid good money to see the show they got hot." — Catholic Standard and Times.

THE GREATEST WEDDING.

Over Twenty Thousand Persons Were Married by One Ceremony.

The biggest wedding ever known to history was when Alexander the Great and over 10,000 of his soldiers took part in a wedding in the court of Darius, king of Persia, after the latter's conquest by Alexander. Twenty thousand two hundred and two persons were made husbands and wives in one ceremony.

The facts are these: After conquering King Darius, Alexander determined to wed Statiro, daughter of the conquered king, and issued a decree that on that occasion 100 of his chief officers should marry 100 women from the noblest Persian and Medean families. He further stipulated that 10,000 of his Greek soldiers should take to wife 10,000 Asiatic women.

For this purpose a vast pavilion was erected, the pillars being sixty feet high. One hundred gorgeous chambers adjoined this for the 100 noble bridegrooms, while for the 10,000 soldiers an outer court was inclosed. Outside of this tables were spread for the multitude.

Each pair had seats and ranged themselves in a semicircle round the royal throne. As it would have taken several weeks for the few priests to have married this vast number of couples had the ceremony been performed in the ordinary way, Alexander invented a simple way out of the difficulty. He gave his hand to Statiro and kissed her, and all the remaining bridegrooms did the same to the women beside them, and thus ended the ceremony that united the greatest number of people at one time ever known.

Then occurred a five days' festival which for grandeur and magnificence never has since been equaled.

MAN AND HIS HORSE.

The Way to Show Approval That the Animal Will Appreciate.

Caress plays no small part in developing the best in any horse, but this is never to be by word of mouth. You may as well curse as bless for all your horse knows or cares. The caress of the hand addressed to the part with which the animal has just performed some feat is always appreciated—the expression shows that—and one loves to see a good man as he lands safe over a big place just reach back and give the clever horse a loving pat or two on that swelling muscular loin which has been the chief agent in negotiating the obstruction.

Do not pat neck or shoulder or any part not actively engaged in the undertaking. Caress may do no good, but it is pleasant to believe that it does, and we are quite positive that the voice simply diverts attention. The former mode of address is at least worthy of trial if only as a mark of appreciation between two gentlemen. The threatening tones appear sometimes serviceable, but this is so only when horses have been abused and associate punishment with the stern voice. The wild horse is as indifferent to the voice of affection as to that of rage.—From "Schooling the Hunter," by Frank M. Ware in Outing Magazine.

Drowned Manuscript.

James Russell Lowell, the first editor of the Atlantic, was walking across Cambridge bridge when his hat blew off and fell into the Charles with half a dozen or more manuscripts with which it was freighted and which he was returning to the Boston office. A boatman recovered the hat, but the scattered manuscripts perished in those waves of oblivion. "If they had been accepted articles, it wouldn't have been quite so bad, for," said he, "we might with some grace ask the writers for fresh copies. But how can you tell a self respecting contributor that his manuscript has been not only rejected but sent to a watery grave?"—J. T. Trowbridge in Atlantic.

Wrecked by a Whale.

While cruising in the south seas the whaler Essex was furiously attacked by a cow sperm whale supposed to have been the mother of a calf which had just been harpooned. The whale had not been wounded herself, and her attack was very determined. At her first rush she passed under the Essex and carried away a great length of her false keel; then, coming to the surface a considerable distance away, she appeared to take bearings and deliberately charged the vessel again, ramming her with such violence that she stove in the bows, while the ship rolled so heavily that the captain thought she must be dismasted. The case is memorable because the crew had to abandon the vessel, and one boat was never heard of again.—Baily's Magazine.

Jingled His Wealth.

Young Scotch Precentor—Man Tammas, there's ae thing bothers me sair when I'm singin', an' I canna get ower't. I'm awfu' nervous.

Old Precentor—Aye, aye. I wis the same as you when I wis young, but I found oot a cure, an' I've aye kept tae't. I jist pit seeven or acht coopers in my pouch, an' when I feel the nervousness beginnin' I give them a bit rattle. It mak's me feel kin' o' whit I may ca' independent like. High Living.

An eminent man who is a strict abstainer from both wine and animal food is obliged in consequence of this peculiarity to refrain from dining out. He entertains, however, an occasional kindred spirit. One such was recently at his table.

"You ought to have seen them," said the eminent man's son, "rioting over boiled carrots!"

SIGNS OF OLD AGE.

How a Man May Know When He Is No Longer Really Young.

They were arguing about the signs of approaching old age.

"Well, I'll tell you one thing," said one. "When a girl ceases to take a lively interest in you and doesn't mind your seeing her with her hair slightly untidy and listens to your conversation indulgently where formerly she manifested interest and sympathy, then you may know you are growing old."

"No," said another. "That isn't an infallible sign, because some young women show interest and sympathy to everybody. It's when your bones creak slightly on arising from a chair and you no longer swing on a moving car with full confidence and you walk up a flight of stairs a step at a time, then you are growing old."

"Not so," chimed in a third, "for young people with rheumatic diseases sometimes exhibit these signs. When the workings of your liver come to be of more importance that the affairs of your heart, then you are growing old."

"You are all wrong," announced a fourth. "When in pulling on your trousers in the early morning you are compelled to gain the support of the bedstead when you slip on the other leg—then—then—you are growing old!" —New York Press.

MADE ONE BLUNDER.

But to Square It an Offer of Generous Restitution Was Made.

In one of the northwestern states they like nothing better than to tell how a few years ago there came to that section of the Union a Boston newspaper man whose mission it was to "write up" lynching in that quarter, although it appeared that there had not been an illegal execution in the state for a long time. The natives took the questions of the eastern scribe in good part and even "jollied" him into believing that for downright lawlessness the community wherein he was for the moment sojourning was about the most conspicuous portion of the United States.

"Don't you ever make a mistake in these lynchings?" guilelessly asked the Bostonian—"that is, don't you ever lynch the wrong man?"

"That happened once," put in some one, "but we tried to do the square thing by the widow."

"Indeed!"

"Yes; we appointed a committee to inform the widow that the joke was on us, and we gave her the choice of the crowd for her second husband."—Lippincott's Magazine.

How She Rests.

In Germantown there dwells a family of ancient lineage which for years every summer has employed a colored woman named Liza as a cook while the family was at the shore. Sons and daughters have married and migrated, reared children and added to the branches of an already luxuriant family tree. On one occasion a number of these signified a desire to assemble again under the old roof. The old lady who now is the head of the family, seeing that special help was necessary, sent for Liza to come and help cook the dinner. Liza's answer was brief and dignified. "De winter am my vacation," she said, "an' den I doan' cook for nobody. In de winter I rests, an' all I does is washin' an' ironin'."—Philadelphia Record.

A Curt Reply.

A story is told of Professor Masson when editor of Macmillan's Magazine. It refers to the days when Kingsley and Newman were engaged in their famous pamphlet war. Conscious of the excellence of an article on the subject of the controversy which he had written in the magazine, Masson ventured to bring it under the notice of Newman, but he was not prepared for the reply he received, although he afterward spoke of it with philosophic humor. Newman's laconic message was in words such as these: "I have not heard of your magazine, and your name conveys no impression to my mind."—Westminster Gazette.

Heartfelt.

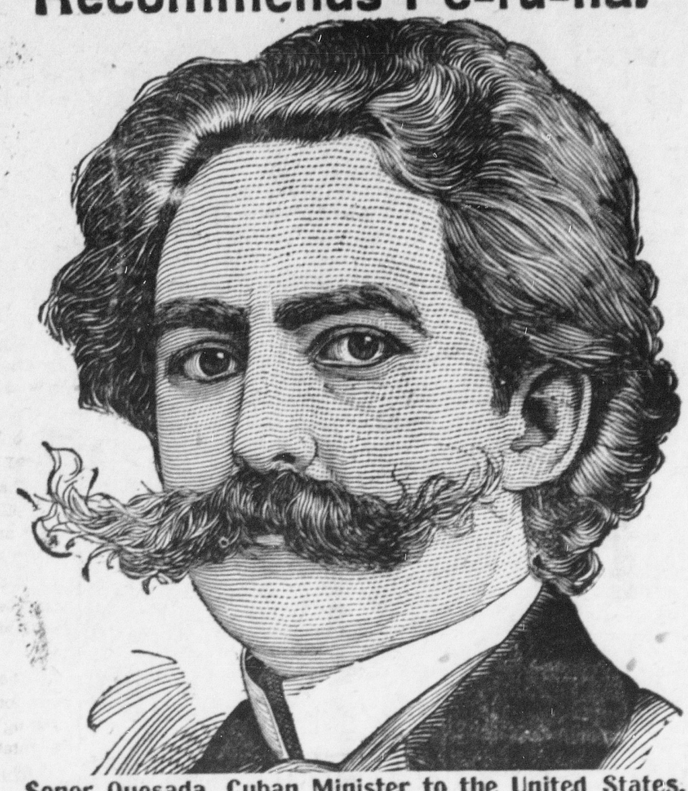
Lord Carrington when governor of New South Wales made his first public appearance at the mayor's dinner at Sydney. Having committed a few words to paper, he delivered them in reply to the toast of his health and then sat down, feeling very much satisfied with himself. Opposite to him there sat an M. P. who had suffered long from the abundant eloquence of the new governor's predecessor. When Lord Carrington sat down the man filled his glass to the brim and said, "Thank the Lord, he can't speak!"

The Venus de Milo.

It is questionable whether the real Greek woman of that immortal epoch when sculpture meant something more than a decorative end to an architectural means possessed the chaste loveliness accredited to her in the chiseled remnants left to us. It has ever been the whim of artists to work away from the physical facts of their models toward the ideals of their fancy. The sculptor is usually a proudly careless historian and but a poor reporter. All Greek sculpture doubtless is a highly glorified record of true Greek ethnology; but, granting such a woman as, say, the Venus de Milo did exist in all her bodily and facial perfection, she would meet with but cold reception at the hands of our critics of femininity today. Her modern women associates would, I am certain, adjudge the classic lady a frump. Ideals change with the centuries if nature does not. —Perriton Maxwell in Bohemian.

CUBAN MINISTER TO THE U. S.

Recommends Pe-ru-na.



Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an orator born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by George Kennan, who heard Quesada speak at the Esteban Theater, Matanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement, but I have rarely witnessed such a scene as at the close of Quesada's eulogy upon the dead patriot, Marti." In a letter to The Peruna Drug M'f'g. Co., written from Washington, D. C., Senor Quesada says:

"Peruna I can recommend as a very good medicine. It is an excellent strengthening tonic, and it is also an efficacious cure for the almost universal complaint of catarrh."---Gonzalo De Quesada.

Mr. Will A. Hoffman, Hagerstown, Ill., writes:

"I gladly give my testimonial with the thousands of others who have been cured by the use of Peruna.

"I had catarrh of the head and throat. I took cold easily and was dizzy-headed.

"I was all rundown and hardly able to work at all when I began using Peruna.

"But, now, after using it about six months I am well and strong."

There is no remedy in the world which has proven so popular for catarrh as Peruna. It has been used for more than thirty years and cured thousands of cases as proven by our testimonials.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

"At the Ferry."

Miss Wilcox, of the Central Entertainment Bureau, arrived in town Saturday to have charge of rehearsals for "At the Ferry," the comic entertainment which will be given in Petrikin Hall, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., on December 17.

Some of the characters already secured for this entertainment are as follows: Ticket agent, Harry Otto; ticket taker, Wm. McFarlane; boat caller, Dr. Lewis Tryon; boat porter, Lawrence McClure; Sallie, Margaret McFarlane; Andy, Edmund Joseph; Mrs. Troublesome, Eva Crissman; Willie, Cecil Walker; Peddler, Don Wallace; Blind man, Roger Willard; newsboy, Luther Crissman; German workman, John Gordon; School teacher, Helen Smith, Uncle Rube, Milan Walker; Aunt Maria, Mary Smith; Mr. Jones, Benjamin Hubbard; Maud Harrison, Miss Gberrity; Bobby Fairlamb, Edward Shields; Hon. Mr. Farrabee, Frank Smith; Mammy Sue, Wilson Gephart; Mr. Spooner, R. R. Blair; Miss Darling, Miss Louise Brackbill; College Girl, Miss Bassett.

From thirty to forty other characters will also be used in the various roles of this entertainment.

An English Author Wrote:

"No shade, no shine, no fruit, no flowers, no leaves,—November!" Many Americans would add no freedom from catarrh, which is so aggravated during this month that it becomes constantly troublesome. There is abundant proof that catarrh is a constitutional disease. It is related to scrofula and consumption being one of the wasting diseases. Hood's Sarsaparilla has shown that what is capable of eradicating scrofula, completely cures catarrh, and taken in time prevents consumption. We cannot see how any sufferer can put off taking this medicine, in view of the widely published record of its radical and permanent cures. It is undoubtedly American's Greatest Medicine for American's Greatest Disease—Catarrh.

If You Don't Watch Out.

Have you got a little wife, quite the sunshine of your life.
Who is very wise and witty, and as pretty as can be?
Some jolly little Molly, or some dainty little Polly.
Or, perhaps, her name is Sally; it is all the same to me.
Then, remember this, old chappy; See that she is always happy;
Never vex her, nor perplex her; never even let her pout.
For, though you may be a stranger, I will warn you of your danger—
An affinity will get her, if you don't watch out.

Let her dine on roast canary. Never be so mercenary
As to hint that beef and cabbages would quite as well suffice,
Let her wardrobe be extensive; never mind if it's expensive;
Pay the price without a murmur, if she keeps on looking nice.
Down in Newport let her summer—that's the way to be a hummer.
She'll appreciate such kindness without a single doubt.
If in keeping with her wishes you should also wash the dishes.
An affinity will get her, if you don't watch out.

Never kick about the cooking; never frown when she is looking;
Never venture to remind her of a pie that mother made.
Always grin while at the table, and, as far as you are able.
Make her think it is a privilege to see that bills are paid.
So, if you would keep your treasure, always cater to her pleasure.
Never balk nor out-talk her; never have wordy bout.
Though you may not be outspoken, always sleep with one eye open.
An affinity will get her, if you don't watch out.

Centre Hall

Clayton Homan who took a carload of apples and potatoes to Johnstown lately has returned, having disposed of all except some of his potatoes which he put in storage. He found the market stocked and it was only through the aid of Messrs Krise and Ott, Real Estate and Insurance dealers, that he succeeded in disposing of his produce. They also gave him free storage for the potatoes unsold.

Irvin Stover of Burnham and Mervin Stover of Treweskyn in Washington Co., were callers in Centre Hall on last Monday. Mervin Stover is Superintendent of a large company store in Treweskyn to which position he was promoted from that of clerk about three months ago. Eyesight Specialist.

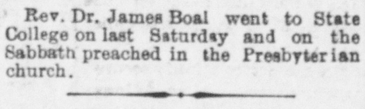
WEDNESDAY morning until THURSDAY Evening Dec. 18th and 19th.



TO MY PATRONS: Having become established in Centre and adjoining counties as a successful eye specialist I have concluded that it will be to the best interests of myself and the public to make a reduction of 25 per cent in all my charges. This will enable those who have felt they could not afford to pay former prices to secure proper treatment of their eyes at the lowest possible expense.

If you wish to save your eyesight and money too, don't fail to call on Prof. Angel. All parents are advised to have their childrens eyes examed especially those that go to school. You will there-by make a good scholar and avoid suffering. At the Brockerhoff House Wednesday morning until Thursday Evening, Dec. 18th and 19th.

—The recent rain caused the creeks and rivers to rise considerably in all parts of the state. The Susquehanna River was especially turbulent and caused great loss in property and the loss of life.

—The show "I'm Married Now" was played before a good house Tuesday night and every one seemed to be pleased with the way the play was given. It was one merry laugh from the beginning to the end with the exception of one recitation called "Back in the Amen Corner." This show had some really funny comedians who kept the comic side of the show right there. They had a fine musician with them and the way he pounded that piano was great. The singing was grand.

The worries of a weak and sick mother are only begun with the birth of her child. By day her work is constantly interrupted and at night her rest is broken by the wailing of the peevish, puny infant. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It lightens all the burdens of maternity, giving to mothers strength and vigor, which they impart to their children. In about forty years of practice Dr. Pierce and his associate staff of physicians have treated and cured more than half a million suffering women. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free of charge. All correspondence is strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Bishop Darlington is Going to London

Concurrent with the advent season, the beginning of the ecclesiastical year, Bishop Darlington has issued a letter to the parishes of the diocese of Harrisburg of the Protestant Episcopal church, copies of which were distributed Sunday in churches throughout the see.

This is the first time Bishop Darlington has issued a pastorial at this season, it is informative rather than recommendatory, the contents being matter published in the Harrisburg Churchman in previous years.

In the letter the bishop published his list of appointments for confirmation services during the present year. The final date is May 28, all being earlier than usual in order to allow the bishop to reach London by June 15.

A Pan-American congress has been called to meet in London on that date, the first ever held. It will be attended not only by clergymen from all over the work but also by lmen and women of the laity. Among the delegation from the diocese of Harrisburg will be Mrs. Darlington, the bishop's wife, and Mrs. A. Wilson Norres of Harrisburg. The other delegates are Rev. Franklin T. Eastment of Philipsburg, secretary of the Harrisburg delegation; Rev. W. Northey Jones of Williamsport, Rev. Lewis Nichols of Lock Haven and C. LaRue Munson of Williamsport.

The annual diocese convention will be held at Lock Haven May 12 and 13.

The Meditation of a Hustler.

Tell me not in mournful numbers.
That the town is full of gloom,
For the man's a crank that slumbers,
In these hustling days of bloom.
Life is real, life is earnest,
And the grave is not it's goal;
Every dollar that thou turnest
Helps to make the old town roll.
But enjoyment and not sorrow
Is our destined end or way;
If you have no money, Borrow—
Buy a corner lot each day.
Lives of great men all remind us,
We can win immortal fame.
Let us leave the chumps behind us,
And we'll get there just the same.
In this world's broad fields of battle.
In the bivouac of life,
Let us make the dry bones rattle—
Buy a borner for your wife.
Let us then be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Booming early, booming late.

King Oscar is Dead.

Oscar II, king of Sweden, died Sunday. The members of his family and many high officials surrounded him while he passed away. Outside were many sad countrymen with bowed heads and tearful eyes The king was a good ruler, well loved by his countrymen.

In the death chamber knelt the heart-broken queen and surrounding her were her children, grandchildren and great grand children all praying for strength to bear their great affliction. The church bells were tolled, the minute gun boomed and all Sweden mourned the loss of its "dear old king."

Crown Prince Gustave is now given the throne. May he rule as well as his father.

Gone

[In Memory of Miss Bettie Seibrt]

Another hand is beckoning us.
Another call is given
And glows once more with angel steps,
The path which reaches Heaven.
As pure and sweet her fair browed seemed
Eternal as the sky;
And like the brooks low song her voice,
A sound that could not die.
And half we deemed she needed not
The changing of her sphere,
To give to Heaven a Shining One,
Who walketh an angel here.
There seems a shadow on the day,
Her smile no longer cheers,
A dimness on the stars of night,
Like eyes that look through tears.

Mrs. J. F. Boozer.

TO CLEAR THE TABLE.

A Little System Works Wonders and Accomplishes Much.

One of the chief indications of a well regulated household is the rapidity with which breakfast, dinner or tea things are cleared away and restored to their respective places, and how to excel in this respect is something every young housewife should know. Where there is a full domestic staff, with a constant supply of hot water, this is, of course, an easy task, but even under less favorable circumstances a little good management will greatly simplify the task of washing up

Take care that the kettle or boiler is filled before the commencement of the meal; then at the conclusion there will be no delay caused by waiting for hot water. See that you have large, dry, clean towels to dry or polish the dishes with. Begin with the glasses, cups, saucers and other similar articles, reserving till the last those which have been used for greasy food

If you have a plate rack over the sink so much the better. If not let your plates drain for a minute or two on a thickly folded towel after taking them from the water. This makes your towel last dry all the longer and lessens the labor of polishing. A small teaspoonful of soap powder or a few drops of cloudy ammonia added to the water greatly facilitates the task of washing up. Each article must be well rinsed afterward in a bowl of clean water.

A BISHOP'S ADVICE.

Parents Responsible For Happy Conditions In the Home.

Bishop Potter of New York has taken his able pen in hand and is writing a remarkably interesting series of "Talks to Women" in Harper's Bazar. In one of the numbers of the Bazar he has this to say, among other things, on the topic of "The Modern Home:"

"The modern home is just what the heads of it make it, and the question which most of all concerns the republic today is the question, What are the fathers and mothers in American homes teaching their children? It may indeed be said that the great differences in our American homes—differences of condition, differences of privilege, differences of opportunity—will make that question very hard to answer, hard perhaps, but not impossible, for the one thing that determines the influence of the home is its spirit, and the spirit is determined by quite other things than material resources or intellectual or social privileges and opportunities. A young man and woman may begin married life with a tolerably clear idea of such a life, however hazy may be their notions as to particular features of it. And the tragedy of the modern home consists in this, that the primary aim seems to be to make it a place for having a 'good time.'"

The Origin of the Holy Stone.

At the reformation, when the Church of St. Nicholas at Yarmouth was despoiled, the carved stones of many of the monuments, both in the church and outside in the graveyard, were shipped off, some to Newcastle to be turned into grindstones and some on board the ships of the royal navy of the day to be used in scouring the decks, whence, it is interesting to know, the seamen's term "holystoning the deck" takes its origin.—London Standard.

Suited His Temper.

"You seem to find that book very interesting," said Mrs. Henpeck.

"Yes," replied Henry; "it's delightful. I've glanced at the ending, and the hero and heroine don't get married after all."—Washington Herald.

Whether a knave or a fool can do the greater harm is one of the questions which twenty centuries of experience has not fully determined.—Dallas News.

For Coughs and Colds

There is a remedy over sixty years old—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Of course you have heard of it, probably have used it. Once in the family, it stays; the one household remedy for coughs and hard colds on the chest. Ask your doctor about it.

"I have had pneumonia three times, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has brought me safely through each time. I have just recovered from my last attack, aged sixty-seven. No wonder I praise it."—E. V. Higgins, Stevens Point, Wis.

Three Little Maidens.

Once three little maidens
Each sat on a stool,
All three very handsome
And just out of school.

And for their amusements
Each picking up type,
Each happy-go-lucky
From morning until night.

A gent from Altoona
Once entered their room,
When the whole combination
Went off in a swoon.

Through the slow falling mist
Of whiskey and beer
These dear little damsels
Saw Francis Cure Speer.

And to that great giant
Their troubles they told
Who kicked the poor devil
Right out in the cold.

ANXIOUS WAGNER.

The First Performance of "Rienzi" at Dresden.

In Ludwig Frankenstein's Wagner year book Gustav Kietz tells this story in connection with the first performance of "Rienzi" at Dresden: "On the day of the first performance Wagner asked me to meet him in front of the theater after the box office had been opened, so that he could give me and my friend Schuster, the butcher, tickets for the performance. Wagner was in a state of great excitement, and when he gave me the two tickets Heine whispered to me, 'Take some one with good big hands with you.' He watched the people as they came toward the theater, and every time one went in he would make some remark to his wife which showed his satisfaction. I had to go with him, but I shall never forget the childish joy of the composer when he saw groups enter the house and the disappointment when others passed the open doors. I thought of it even that evening when the enthusiasm was the greatest. How happy Wagner and his wife must have been at the following two performances, when the house was so filled that even his relatives, who had come to Dresden for that purpose, could not be admitted to the theater!"

THE DESERT SANDS.

Why the Arabs of Sahara Lose the Use of Their Eyes.

"I shall winter in the Sahara," said a traveling man. "With a caravan I shall traverse under a blinding sun and an endless plain of snow white sand, but none of my Mohammedan attendants will wear any kind of shade over his eyes.

"Against that dazzling glare the backs of their necks will be swathed in white linen, and even their ears will be protected. Nothing, though, will keep the sun out of their faces.

"Wondering about this, I said one day to the kaid of an Algerian village:

"'Why don't you Arabs wear a cap of some sort? You live in the world's worst sun glare, but neither fez nor turban under any circumstances has a peak.'

"'The Koran,' the kaid answered, 'forbids all true believers to shade their eyes. Obeying the Koran implicitly, we dwellers in the desert avoid like poison brims to our headgear.' In consequence there is more blindness among us than among any other people in the world.'"—Los Angeles Times.

Victoria and Lady Millais.

It is related that when Sir John Millais fell ill Queen Victoria sent the Princess Louise to the dying man to inquire what favor she could accord him that could alleviate his sorrow if not his pain. Sir John thereupon called for his writing tablet and inscribed upon it the words, "I should like the queen to see my wife." Then the queen broke through her iron rule not to receive any woman whose marriage tie had been once dissolved, whether there be blame or not, graciously acceded to the request and accorded the sorely tried lady a tender and sympathetic interview.—St. James' Gazette.

Ambitions.

The toiler in the city had been given an advance in salary. "Now," he said jubilantly, "I can begin saving to buy a farm."

The agriculturist looked at the check received for his season's wheat. "Another such crop or two and I can move into the city," he mused.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not Too Crazy.

Jones, the tailor, is informed that one of his clients has suddenly gone insane.

"Oh, the poor fellow! But he'll pay up bill at least, won't he?"

"Oh, he isn't quite insane enough for that."—Paris Journal.

Answered.

"Where shall the weary find rest?" exclaimed Rev. Dr. Fourthly, with dramatic emphasis.

A short snore from the pew occupied by Deacon Hardesty was the only response.—Chicago Tribune.

They Tax All Signs.

Every sign in Rio Janeiro is taxed. A cafe having a special "sorvete," or ice, to serve makes a placard and hangs it to a doorpost or to one of the palm trees in tubs which commonly decorate such establishments. The notice thus posted must have a revenue stamp attached. Permanent signs are taxed on a permanent basis, temporary signs on a stamped basis. A sign "House For Rent" bears a revenue stamp. Under such circumstances the tax on signboards or billboards is the expected thing, but naturally there is much less general use of such forms of advertising.

Unnecessarily Polite.

A lady tells of an experience in a Buffalo street car. The car was empty, with the exception of one man, and he was the reverse of the car. As she entered he rose, made her an unsteady but magnificent bow, and said, "Madam, please be kind enough to accept thish plashe." Rather than offend the man, there was nothing else for her to do, so she thanked him and sat down, and for seven blocks he hung from the strap, swaying in the breeze, with not a soul in the car but the two.

A Clay Pipe Trick.

The ordinary clay pipe has under the bowl a projection or heel which it would seem impossible to break from the opposite side of an ordinary table without injuring the bowl or breaking the stem. Yet it can be done with ease after two or three attempts. Break off a piece of the stem—about a couple of inches will do—and place it on the table so that it projects a little over the edge. Ask a friend to hold the pipe obliquely, heel upward and the bowl higher than the end of the stem. He can do this by inserting his little finger in the bowl. Now get your piece in proper line with the stem of the pipe and strike it forcibly and well with the palm of your hand. The piece will fly across the table along the stem and break the heel clean off.

This seems amazing at first sight, but any one with a "straight eye" can do it with very little practice.

Degrees of Pity.

The Bachelor—Don't you pity us old bachelors?

Young Widow—Yes, but I don't suppose I pity you as much as the old maids do.—Chicago News.

Woman's Watchword Is Modesty.

Whatever threatens woman's delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits disease of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which most physicians think necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty.

Any sick woman may write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters of consultation being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Such consultation costs you nothing whether you take treatment from Dr. Pierce or not.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as a "God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. It enables women suffering from "female weakness," prolapsus uteri, retroversion, anteversion, and other displacements of the organs distinctly feminine, to cure themselves right in the privacy of their homes. Pelvic catarrhal drains, painful or irregular periods, backache, frequent headaches, weak nerves, dragging-down pain or distress in the lower abdominal, or pelvic, region, gnawing sensation in stomach, dizziness, or faint spells, and kindred conditions and symptoms are cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is not a secret or patent medicine, against the use of which most people of intelligence naturally object, but is, in fact, the "Favorite Prescription" of a regularly educated and experienced physician in the treatment of woman's peculiar ailments and who is not afraid to publish all its ingredients, as he does, on its bottle-wrapper, attesting the correctness of the same under oath.

"Favorite Prescription" is the one medicine for woman's delicate ailments which contains neither alcohol nor harmful, habit-forming drugs, being a pure glyceric extract of curative principles found in our most valuable native, medicinal roots, as attested by many of the most eminent medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this PROVEN REMEDY OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also clouded, the mind and judgement are effected, and many an evil deed or impure thought may be directly traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches and purifies the blood thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by inclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

Deafness Cannot

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

BRIEF MENTION

Short Items of Local Interest Gathered By The Way Side

—Lock Haven had its first real snow storm on Tuesday.

—The Lewisburg was over an hour late on Wednesday evening, on account of a freight wreck at Centre Hall.

—John S. Tome a guest of Mrs. Louis Bush was entertained at dinner on Wednesday by Miss Myra Humes.

—On Tuesday night a three table euchre party was held at Miss S. Ohnmachts. Those present had a delightful time.

—"Peter Pan" was shown in Altoona Thursday night and Wilson Gephart says it was fine. Wilson knows because he was there.

—The owl in Knisely brothers window was chloroformed Thursday and sent to a taxidermist in Williamsport for mounting.

—Saturday the Sophmores and Freshmen held their annual football game with the result that the Sophmores won. The score was 6—0.

—Prof. Angel, the eye specialist, will be at the Brockerhoff House Wednesday and Thursday Dec. 18 and 19. His usual rates will be cut 25 per cent.

—Mr. and Mrs. Morton Smith are rejoicing over the arrival of a young daughter which came to brighten their home on Tuesday night. Both the mother and the little Miss are doing fine.

—This office is in receipt of a program of the third annual meeting of the high school department of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association to be held at Harrisburg, December 26, 27, and 29, 1907.

—The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad is now running its thirty-five Westinghouse electric locomotives with local trains between the Grand Central Station, New York and Stamford.

—Jim Roseman saw a tobacco label floating down the race below Keichline's store the other day and he thought it was a five dollar bill and waded in that cold spring water to get it. Wonder what he said?

—The other day the American Express Company of this place got a package addressed to Gov. Pennypacker Bellefonte, Pa. So famous has Bellefonte become for governors that this package was missent to Gov. Pennypacker.

—County Commissioner John L. Dunlap and Contractor George Rhoads of Bellefonte on their return from Spring Mills stopped in Centre Hall recently. They were at Spring Mills to look over the new bridge erected over Penns Creek, the abutments for which Mr. Rhoads built.

—Wednesday afternoon three Germans were touring this place, giving some of our residents delightful music. Last Wednesday evening these same men were at the Bush House giving a splendid concert. Friday they were at the station with quite a crowd listening to them. They played an accordeon, flute and mandolin.

—The boro has commenced work on Water street by putting a lot of cobble stone on it. The work has started near D. Waite's store. It is certainly time, as Water street was in bad condition, and we hope that the work will be well done. It is one of our showy streets—a street that gives to the town a better appearance when in proper shape.

—Dr. A. W. Hafer got a severe fall while coming down High street in front of Dr. Feidt's residence, on Tuesday evening. In fact he fell so hard that he lost consciousness for a little while. Two men, hearing the noise caused by the fall, came to his assistance. It left quite a mark on the back of the dentists head. The street was very slippery at that place, as quite a few had skated on it.

—Charles Barnes who graduated from the B. H. S., class of 1906, taught school last year, and played on our Y. M. C. A. team is now playing on the Y. M. C. A. at New Haven, Conn. The New Haven team is very strong, and Charlie is one of its best players. Just a few days ago they had a hard game, and on last Tuesday evening they played Yale Varsity, Charles is getting along very well.

—Friday night at the Brockerhoff House Prof. Sherwood Hall and Arthur Sloop entertained the football squad of the Bellefonte Academy at a banquet, given under the direction of Mr. Horton S. Ray, the genial proprietor of the hotel. That it was a success in every respect, goes without saying. Twenty-two guests sat at the table. The delicious menu, the witty toasts, and the music made the evening pass every pleasantly.

—A large wild cat was shot and killed at Millheim.

—The Methodist church had a very enjoyable affair at the Garman residence Saturday night. They made over $90.

—Revival services were started at the U. B. Church Sunday evening. There was a large attendance and a good meeting.

—Ed. Gillen a well known grocer of this town ran a nail in his foot last week. He has had it lanced twice, but it still remains very sore.

—The repair work on Water street is progressing quite rapidly, but not as fast comparatively as John Dubbs new building went up.

—Harry Barnhart, former book-keeper for R. B Taylor, is now working for Albert Schad. The reason for this change is on account of his health.

—Dr. John Fay, aged 77 years, for 50 years practicing in Altoona and for many years the Pennsylvania Railroad Physician, died at Altoona Friday morning.

—The steam heat has been installed in St. John's Lutheran church of Bellefonte. The church is now in a comfortable condition and the congregation can worship without any inconvenience on account of cold.

—G. Edward Haupt, the concrete block manufacturer, is also a crack hunter, as testified by the fact that Friday morning he shot and killed a large red fox on the mountain back of Milesburg. It is a beauty and as the hide is worth $5.00 and the bounty $2 00, it proved quite a profitable shot for Ed.

—This paper received the handsome Souvenier Program of Cornell-Pennsylvania, giving a full review of Pennsylvania's athletic year 1906-1907 and a resume of Cornell's athletic achievements. This is certainly a fine book filled with nice illustrations. We extend our thanks to Clifford Pemberton.

—The match factory is improving its surroundings quite a bit. They have filled the yard until its present level is several feet higher than formerly. They intend to put a layer of crushed limestone over this. Such improvements are admired by those who come and go. They add beauty and prestige to any town.

—On Friday evening December 13th Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hughes will give a reception at the Fraternity house to the new students of the Academic grade. Christy Smith's orchestra will furnish the music. On the afternoon of the same day there will be a Declamatory contest at the school for the W S. Furst prize of $10,00.

—One more soul has passed into the great beyond, namely, Mrs. Joseph Gilliland. The grim reaper Death stole from Mr. Gilliland the life for which he has lived, and now he is sadly mourning for that which he cannot bring back. Joseph Gilliland's boyhood home was at Potters Mills, but after marriage he went to Bloomsfield, seeking wealth and fame.

—Thomas A. Sproul, of Haverhill, Mass., 29 years old, prefers to live in a tree rather than in a lodging house because the lodging house would cost money, though he has a bank account, faced the court, charged with being a vagrant. Judge Fuller ordered him discharged from custody, holding that a man with a bank account who works and saves his money cannot be classed as a vagrant because he prefers to sleep outdoors.

—The Centre county Medical Society held their monthly meeting in the Court House Tuesday and an unusually interesting meeting was held. The members present from out of town were Drs. Crist and Glen, of State College, Dr. Dale, of Lemont, Dr. Kidder, of Boalsburg; Dr. Alexander, of Centre Hall; Dr. Bracht, of Spring Mills; Dr. Huff, of Milesburg; Dr. Thompson, of Port Matilda; Dr. Kurtz, of Howard; and Dr. Woods of Pine Grove Mills.

—James Toner the famous liveryman is now bereaving the loss of one of his best friends. About 8 or 9 months ago Jim got a tiny puppy and through all this time he has been treating it with care. But, alas, on Sunday morning it got in front of the Lock Haven train and an ax could not have done the work better. When the train moved away the head was on one side of the rail and the body on the other being in a puddle of blood from which a ghastly steam arose. Interment was held soon after. Deceased was a coach dog about 8 or 9 months old, and left to survive him, are Jim, John and a few others.

—"Miss Petticoats" is coming to the Garman Opera House on Jan. 8th. This popular attraction dramatized from the book of that name has made a large host of friends on its tour of New England and New York State and all who have read the book will welcome the chance to witness the dramatic production of the intense story. The Gloversville Herald says of it:—"Miss Petticoats was the attraction at the Darling Theatre and it was a pleasing surprise to the theatre goer many of whom had read the book and were anxious to see the production The play was well staged and excellently acted. The scenes are laid in New England and were decidedly refreshing and fascinating. All in all the Thanksgiving attraction was far above the usual standard."

JAKE FROM SENTENCED.

Will Take Trip Over the Mountain—Court Ends for the Week

About one year ago Jacob From was conspicuous in the Dale murder case but got through it satisfactorily. Two months ago he was caught stealing corn from a field owned by James Stahl, and on November 15th he entered McClenahan's chicken house and stole some of the chickens.

From thus had two charges of theft entered against him when he came in court on Monday. He plead guilty to the charge of stealing corn, probably expecting a lenient sentence by such action.

On Wednesday the matter of the chickens was brought up, and From plead "not guilty." The jury gave a verdict of guilty however.

He was sentenced for 1 year and 4 months to the Western Penitentiary in the Stahl case. The sentence for chicken stealing was not given. Other business transacted in Court Thursday is given below.

Commonwealth vs. O. Lloyd Reimert, indicted for assault and battery; prosecutor Emma T. Reimert. The Commonwealth's allegations are that the defendant, who is the husband of the prosecutrix, had threatened sometime in September to kill her, and subsequently on two several dates in November had committed an assault and battery upon her, the prosecutrix. The defendant denied the allegations of the Commonwealth. Verdict of guilty in manner and form as the defendant stands indicted.

Thursday was mostly taken up with the trial of the case of W. F. Knopp, A. H. Knopp and Adam M. Blazer, trading as Knopp Bros. & Blazer, vs. Charles Bilger, an appeal.

Sentences were imposed as follows:

Lloyd Reimert convicted of assault and battery was fined $25 and costs.

S. G. Tomlinson, of Miles township, convicted of larceny, was sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory.

Was He Dead at Throttle

Allentown, Pa., December, 8th.—Under conditions which seem to indicate that he was dead at the throttle, Calvin Frederick, an engineer on the Lehigh Valley railroad, today ran his locomotive past a danger signal near Parryville, Carbon county, and caused a wreck in which Richard Miller and Cyrus Young, brakemen, were dangerously scalded.

Frederick was an engineer on a west bound freight train which crashed into the rear end of anotner freight. Frederick's locomotive was overturned, the caboose into which it crashed was demolished and a freight car was wrecked. Miller and Young were scalded by steam from the locomotive.

After the wreck the engineer was found dead with his hand on the throttle of the locomotive. The body was in such a condition that Frederick could easily have extricated himself had he been alive at the time of the accident. Shortly before the accident Frederick complained that he had a peculiar pain in his head, but he did not ask relief and the members of the crew thought he was all right, because they did not hear from him.

The dead engineer's home was in Lehighton. Miller and young are from the same place.
